SAN JUAN

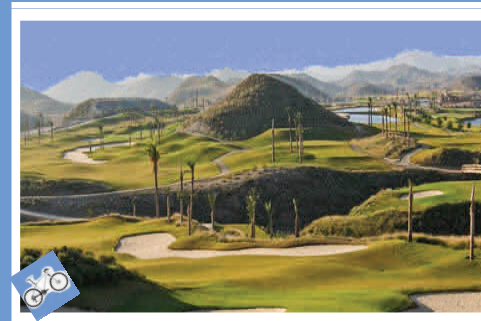

belongs to the community of Pulpí, which is situated in the province of Almería in Andalusia (Costa de Almería). San Juan de los Terreros is famous for its breathtaking beaches and its bright blue sea. A bit further north, there is Águilas — a town full of life, colours and Mediterranean life-style. If you walk through the streets, you will immediately notice the kind and welcoming people of Águilas.

San Juan de los Terreros is a small and cosy village with all amenities and shopping facilities you need. The infrastructure is great as there are stores, bars, restaurants and athletic grounds; yet there is no annoying mass tourism. Nearby, there also is a 18-hole-golf course.

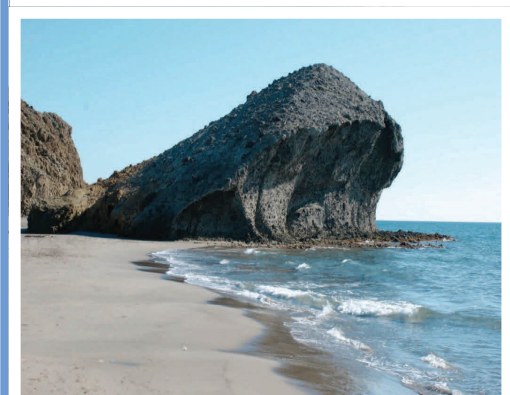

DE LOS TERREROS

The castle of San Juan de los Terreros is the villages' landmark, built in 1764 on a rock with a fantastic view of the coast of Almería and Murcia. You should definitely visit the nearest larger cities of Lorca, Cartagena, Murcia, Almería and Granada. There are plenty of cultural activities and great things to see and discover.

In the back country, there are dozens of charming historical villages which are absolutely worth a visit.
